Hey Church!

This past Sunday I preached a sermon that was attempting to show scripture clearly teaches that God has instituted government and that scripture shows that Christians should participate in it to the extent that they are allowed to while also serving our true King and His Kingdom. This Sunday we will return to 1 Peter and I will see God's providential timing that Christians are called to honor all authority, especially when Christians are mistreated and persecuted. Next Tuesday, the citizens of the United States are being given an opportunity to choose their representatives in the Mid-Term elections. No matter the outcome of this election, Christians are called to honor these elected authorities and in doing so we are honoring the Lord. The reason behind this scriptural mandate is pretty clear, to see God transform the lost through the example of Christians walking in submission to God through persecution and not repaying evil with evil.

Christians are called to be witnesses for Christ at all times, especially while being persecuted for standing out against the culture because of their good works. The temptation of the flesh is to take justice into our own hands when justice is necessary because of persecution. God will revenge wrong in his time. Our call is to seek the Kingdom and the redemption of Christ in everyone's life. This can be impossible for some people because they have experienced the most evil of circumstances, but that is why we need the gospel, to overcome the impossible.

No matter the outcome of this election, Christian, don't you trust the Lord to rein for His own glory? Trust Him and obey His word.

Pastor Ryan
